

Click to prove you're human

Joined Apr 21, 2025 Messages 5 Reaction score 6 Thanks all, appreciate the input. I'll give an OCB D a try and see how that looks. Seems like everyone is aligned against the pocket square hahah It's hard to tell what color the jacket is. Looks a bit green on my screen. I like the jacket/pants combo. If it were me, I'd probably do an Oxford button down shirt, but I think the denim shirt still works. Agree with no square. In my opinion, you've combined things well as all the pieces are roughly the same level of formality. FatherStyle.com The jacket is green/grey, probably what's making it ambiguous on your screen. This has been my first foray into owning tailored clothes, so I tried to get something I could dress up or down. Im going to be contrarian and say the colors are good balancing warm and cool. However, with this level of casual ditch the square. If you had more dressy trousers go for the thinner belt otherwise you are fine. Also make sure the trousers are not sagging down. They will always look better at your natural waist. If they are low rise go for mid rise at least. Trust me it makes a difference. The shoes dont need shining if they are more work boot style. Just make sure they are clean and brushed. Don't worry, I am very much team high rise. These are a decently mid rise trouser, so I think they work well enough with the coat from a proportion standpoint. The shoes are a bit work wear but they are definitely well overdue for a clean and polish. Like Reply Joined Apr 24, 2025 Messages 292 Reaction score 847 Yep sure is. Size 40. Kind of want a sage Barbour too @ in some model. Maybe International? I don't know I have two Beauforts, same color as yours. Boy's large and extra large. The large suits me just fine but just in case I start gorging on desserts.....@ Like Reply Reactions: WoolyLamb STYLE. COMMUNITY. GREAT CLOTHING. Bored of counting likes on social networks? At Styleforum, you'll find rousing discussions that go beyond strings of emojis. Click Here to join Styleforum's thousands of style enthusiasts today! Styleforum is supported in part by commission earning affiliate links sitewide. Please support us by using them. You may learn more here. Joined Apr 24, 2025 Messages 292 Reaction score 847 How was your experience using a pocket watch? For the most part good. I love the looks and mechanics of American railroad pocket watches specifically and the U.S. history aspect, and I enjoy carrying them. They are, however, impractical compared to wrist watches, and delicate little things. If you were to drop one, for example, which I have, some thing or things are bound to break and repairs can be expensive, and you have to ensure the watch repairer is knowledgeable and experienced in fixing antique and vintage pocket watches. Most aren't. I've been fortunate to find several guys near by who know what they are doing. Despite the cons, I wouldn't trade my precious American railroad pocket watch collection for the world. Like Reply Reactions: Roycru, William Kazak, TasEnt and 1 other person Joined Oct 20, 2020 Messages 554 Reaction score 1,572 I wasn't really planning on making a postable outfit today, was just going for a casatlantic polo and some B&B jeans. But it was a tad too cold, so I threw on my most informal jacket, from Granqvist, over it. Polo collar over jacket collar because that's the only way to get it to stay somewhere (and also I quite like it). Before you get too mad, please consider that we're a bunch of fussy men having passionate arguments about socks. Like Reply Reactions: Corson, DapperPhilly, WoolyLamb and 15 others Joined Aug 2, 2011 Messages 8,186 Reaction score 62,401 Last day of teaching on Saturday. Field trip to the science museum. Chambray trousers, linen fun shirt, and new hopsack sport coat. Like Reply Reactions: Veremund, Corson, DapperPhilly and 9 others Joined Apr 18, 2013 Messages 3,025 Reaction score 43,357 Standing in front of what typical houses around here looked like before the Spanish came here. Brooks Brothers corduroy jacket, L L Bean blue OCB D shirt, Tommy Hilfiger Fair Isle sweater vest, Vineyard Vines Nantucket Reds, and Allen-Edmonds shoes. "Fashion is what one wears oneself. What is unfashionable is what other people wear, just as vulgarity is simply the conduct of other people and falsehoods the truths of other people. Other people are quite dreadful." Lord Goring in "An Ideal Husband" by Oscar Wilde Like Reply Reactions: WoolyLamb, Seattle, An Acute Style and 11 others Joined May 18, 2013 Messages 6,899 Reaction score 12,883 Excellent! And the belt. @ Preppy C, maybe you could give this old Caustic Man's thread a boost?... Have a look... Cheers Like Reply Reactions: Preppy Climber Joined Apr 24, 2025 Messages 292 Reaction score 847 Preppy C, maybe you could give this old Caustic Man's thread a boost?... Have a look... Cheers Just did! Thank you, @Clouseu, for thinking of me and suggesting this thread! Like Reply Reactions: Clouseu Joined Jul 5, 2017 Messages 387 Reaction score 1,031 I always struggled wearing warmer tones of yellow, it's an easy color alright. But most of the time my trousers already are khaki/beige/stone or another color very close to pale yellow. So when I wear this new safari jacket I have to rethink how I wear this color on top instead of just as trousers. I think it works here. The trousers btw are from Ambrosi, and are very heavy linen, they wear like sweatpants it's fantastic, but not very practical as they are either too warm (in summer) or too cold in (spring/fall). But they work when the weather is just right! The shoes are Doek and are a gift from my best friend, thanks again! I think they work nicely because it makes the whole outfit more playful. Insta: Authenticfit. Like Reply Reactions: Softcacti, Indole, dresden and 14 others Joined Sep 7, 2022 Messages 9,300 Reaction score 14,748 I always struggled wearing warmer tones of yellow, it's an easy color alright. But most of the time my trousers already are khaki/beige/stone or another color very close to pale yellow. So when I wear this new safari jacket I have to rethink how I wear this color on top instead of just as trousers. I think it works here. The trousers btw are from Ambrosi, and are very heavy linen, they wear like sweatpants it's fantastic, but not very practical as they are either too warm (in summer) or too cold in (spring/fall). But they work when the weather is just right! The shoes are Doek and are a gift from my best friend, thanks again! I think they work nicely because it makes the whole outfit more playful. View attachment 2376359 View attachment 2376353 View attachment 2376355 View attachment 2376357 Replace the sneakers with loafers and you have a very good outfit. Like Reply Joined Sep 7, 2022 Messages 9,300 Reaction score 14,748 I'm not with you on this one, it makes it way more sporty and 'young', but I know your disposition for sneakers. New outfit: View attachment 2377315 Please, show the shoes. The scarf is a bit too loud, too much of a contrast, in my eyes. By the way, the outfit with sneakers would work much better also with lace-up shoes and boots. Last edited: May 8, 2025 Like Reply Reactions: Ldejong Joined May 10, 2007 Messages 8,577 Reaction score 52,258 After An Acute Style's latest posting in WAYWRN, proving the multitude of things one can make out of madras plaid, I know that nothing can further shock the locals to their collective cores, that already having been done. The weather in NYC is, or has been, warm and at least partially sunny, and I had nothing more strenuous to do this afternoon than to have lunch with an old friend, and to take said friend to the Met to see the Sargent show. Upon meeting him for lunch, the first words out of his mouth were, "You look like you're right out of Palm Springs", which could have meant, a). colorfully casual; b). old and gay; or c). all of the above. For the present, I'm going with option c). and, knowing the source, I'm taking it as a compliment, or at least not as a criticism. Shirt - Robert Graham Jeans - Levi's 511's Socks - Corgi Boots - Magnanni for Saks Fifth Avenue Cap - Paul Stuart Shades - Warby Parker Distinguished is what one becomes when one is too old to be "hot". Like Reply Reactions: KotaB, Softcacti, ConElPueblo and 12 others