The update pays particular attention to the structure of "the Trial Chambers", which will become a dangerous place full of content and new challenges. In addition, the update adds several new mobs and enchantments and allows you to use improved arrows and new potions, which will surely come in handy. The update contains many new blocks, among which there are functional ones to diversify your game. Minecraft Bedrock 1.21.1 release date: June 13, 2024. Contents: 1. New Content 2. Updated Skins 3. New Items 4. New Mobs 5. New Enchantments 6. New Blocks 7. New Structure 8. Download Links New Content Content is essential for any update, so it is worth paying attention to. In addition, it is worth noting that the new game version almost entirely consists of new content. Updated Skins First of all, please note that a few new skins for wolves will appear in the virtual world: "Pale wolf": the update will visually change the white-gray wolf found in Taiga. "Rusty wolf": the unusual name of the wolf indicates the prevalence of a dirty red color. Nevertheless, it looks unusual and will attack you if you look into the Jungle. New Items The major improvement is the addition of many new items. Each of them is unique, helpful, and will surely give you a lot of pleasant emotions. Let's consider all the items in order: "A trial key" is a universal item you can find in "the Trial Chambers" and use to unlock a vault. To get it, you should destroy a trial spawner (the dropping probability is 50% or hope for luck by breaking pots or opening chests (the dropping probability is about 8%). "A trial explorer map" is an item that allows you to find a new location using landmarks. You can obtain it through regular crafting or buy it from the Cartographer in the village. "A wind charge" is a special projectile that consists entirely of air. It can help you attack enemies, activate a high jump, and interact with various objects (buttons, levers, trapdoors, and doors). "A breeze rod" is a new material used to craft "a mace" with the help of an additional heavy core. You should go to "the Trial Chambers" and fight "the breeze" to obtain this new element. It will drop a small amount of material (up to 7 units with boosts), but it will be enough for further crafting. "An ominous bottle" is a universal item the player can use to obtain a Bad Omen effect. This effect lasts approximately 100 minutes and can help you activate trials in "the Trial Chambers". You can get the coveted bottle by killing "a pillager". "A heavy core" is another material for crafting "a mace". You can obtain it by unlocking "an ominous vault" with an ominous trial key. The dropping probability is only 7.5%, but that's the only way to get this material. "A mace" is a new melee weapon that is large, with a slow swing and decent damage. To craft it, you should use "a heavy core". Besides, you will need to use an enchantment to unlock the weapon's potential (it is advisable to use the new enchantment of this version). In addition, "the mace" has a mechanic of increased damage, which you can activate by throwing a wind charge under yourself and then jumping to hit the enemy with the weapon (the damage will increase several times). "A new painting collection" represents decorative items that will offer 20 new paintings. They include many classic works and beautiful pictures. "A spawn egg" is probably familiar to all Minecraft fans. This version also introduces some new options: "bogged" and "breeze spawn eggs". You will need them to spawn the corresponding mobs. "Several potions" will be available for alchemy and further use: "a potion of wind charging", "a potion of infestation", "a potion of oozing", and "a potion of weaving". Each option has its specific effects you can use to enhance your character or weapon. "Arrows with new potion effects" are universal projectiles for a combat bow, crossbow, and "dispenser" that will impose the corresponding effect upon impact. New Mobs After dealing with the items, you can study new mobs. There are only two of them, but they fit perfectly into the environment of the new location: "A breeze" resembles an elemental that uses air as its element. When it appears, it seems like a small jumping tornado in front of you. It attacks you with "wind charges", which can cause damage and harshly push you away. At the same time, its projectiles can interact with various elements: doors, trapdoors, levers, buttons, etc. It doesn't receive damage from falling from a height, shows severe aggression, and pushes away all projectiles. You can fight it during the trials in the vastness of "the Trial Chambers". "Breeze rods" are the most valuable items among the loot received after killing the mob. "A bogged" is another aggressive mob that resembles a mix of a zombie and a skeleton. It appears in the swamp biome and has a combat bow. The bogged attacks the player from a long distance and applies the poison effect. This skeleton can sometimes appear in the snow biome and "the Trial Chambers". After killing the bogged, you can get: arrows; damaged combat bow; bones; poison arrows. New Enchantments The new version hasn't been complete without adding enchantments that will surely help you achieve a good result. It includes the following enchantments: "Density" is a unique enchantment perfect for the new mace. By casting it, you can get a damage boost of 0.5 units for each block affected by the weapon. "Breach" is another mace enchantment, which will add a bonus of ignoring 15% of armor when hitting an enemy. "A wind burst" is a powerful enchantment that allows you to jump high with your mace and deliver a crushing blow. You can only get this enchantment in "the Trial Chambers" when opening "an ominous vault". New Blocks The most extensive update is adding new blocks whose number is impressive. So, let's not waste time and immediately consider each new block: "A crafter" is a unique device that allows you to craft items upon receiving a "Redstone" signal. It has a few unusual functions during crafting and is easy to use. To create it, you will need: iron ingots – 5 pieces; crafting table – 1 piece; dropper – 1 piece; Redstone – 2 pieces "Chiseled tuff" is a regular tuff with additional patterned sections; "Chiseled tuff bricks" are patterned building materials made from tuff; "Polished tuff" is a specially processed tuff block with a new visual design; "A copper grate" is a grate block created using copper ore; "A copper door" is a door block made of copper; "Chiseled copper" is a regular block of processed copper; "A copper bulb" is a light source created using copper; "A copper trapdoor" is a trapdoor created using copper; "A trial spawner" is a block found in "the Trial Chambers". It is a source of mob spawns and has an additional cooldown period; "A vault" is a storage block found in "the Trial Chambers". You can only open it with a trial key. Please note that all copper items have several stages of oxidation, which can significantly spoil their appearance and durability. To prevent this, you should scrape copper elements with honeycombs. New Structure Lastly, it remains to note that the main improvement is a new structure called "the Trial Chambers". It is generated naturally and can contain all the listed blocks, items, and mobs. The chambers are exciting to explore, contain treasures, and have locked vaults you can open using a trial key. Remember that you can get a map from the Cartographer who has reached the Journeyman level. Download Some versions of snapshots by Mojang are called experimental. They are not included in the launcher and have to be installed manually. They may contain numerous bugs and errors, and using them with your saves is not the best idea. Note! This guide is devoted to installing experimental snapshots. There is a special guide on installing usual snapshots on our website. As for a brief instruction on how to download and install an experimental snapshot, it is as follows: 0) Make sure you have a recent version of TLauncher installed: Windows, macOS/Linux. 1) On the official website Minecraft.net, find a description of the experimental snapshot you are interested in. In our example, it is A Very Scary Snapshot (link). 2) Scroll to the end of the description and find the Download this zip file link (direct link). 3) A .zip archive will be downloaded. In TLauncher, click the folder icon to open the game folder. 4) Find the versions folder, open it, copy the downloaded archive there, and extract it in the current directory (we used WinRAR, but you may have a different menu). 5) The path to the snapshot's config file should look as follows: .minecraft\versions\1_19_deep_dark_experimental_snapshot-1\1_19_deep_dark_experimental_snapshot-1.json (you may have another snapshot file). 6) Open TLauncher and find 1_19_deep_dark_experimental_snapshot-1 in the version list (the name will change depending on the snapshot installed). 7) Launch the selected version and play! Possible Issues and Their Solutions - I have unzipped the archive in the versions directory, but it is not displayed in TLauncher's version list. Solution. Most likely, you have not extracted the archive correctly. The path should look as follows: .minecraft\versions\1_19_deep_dark_experimental_snapshot-1\1_19_deep_dark_experimental_snapshot-1.json In contrast, if your path looks like this, it is INCORRECT: .minecraft\versions\1_19_deep_dark_experimental_snapshot-1\1_19_deep_dark_experimental_snapshot-1\1_19_deep_dark_experimental_snapshot-1.json That is, you have duplicated the folder and got the wrong path. Bring the path to the correct format. - I launch an experimental snapshot, but the game crashes, and the developer console appears. Solution. To resolve this issue, try updating video drivers and contact our technical support. If you still have questions, feel free to contact the TLauncher team: Contact the developers via FB.Com A variety of Minecraft skins is presented here, which will make the game more interesting. Each player wants to change the default character look sooner or later. This way you can give your character more personality. Both guys and girls will be able to find skins according to their preferences on this site.
